A Blurb About Our Blots

With the popularity of such new writing instruments as the ball point pen and the cartridge pen the once-familiar ink blot has become almost a thing of the past. We have spotlighted these messy, inky blobs for our theme since they do have a peculiar creative value all their own when you take time out to study them.

What you will see in an ink blot will depend on what you are as an individual and what your mind has remembered from the millions of impressions reaching your brain, from infancy to this present moment. Each person will see something different. For that reason we think our ink blot theme is about as individually tailored as a theme can be.

Psychologists use these inky smears to discover clues to the way people think, and then use this insight to help solve personality problems. Perhaps you would like to be your own analyst and look into the mysteries of your mind through the fascinating "window" of the ink blot!

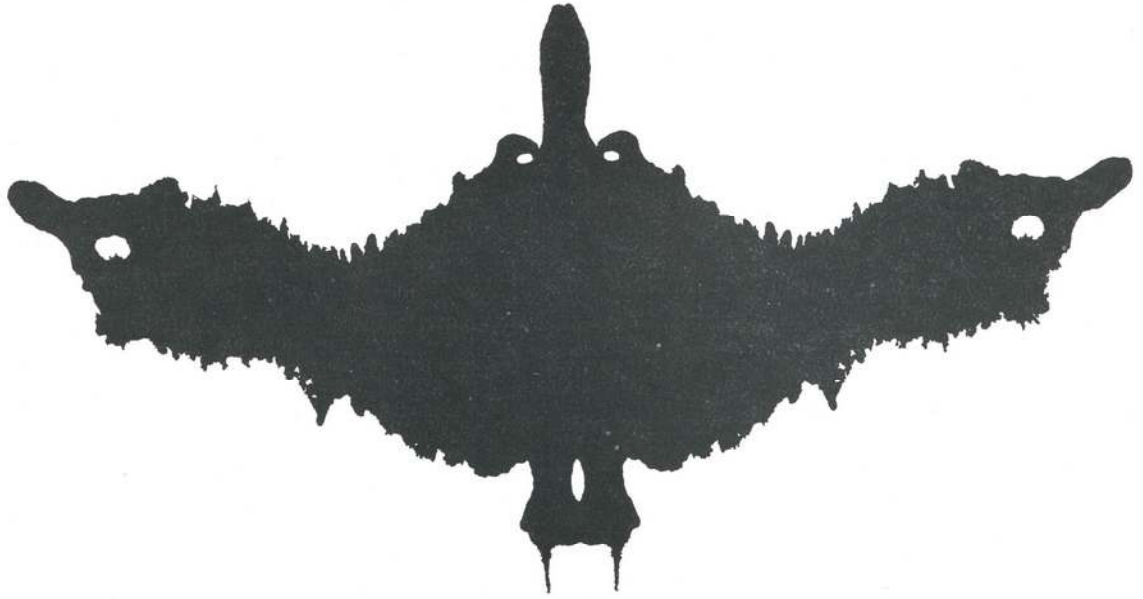

Now start thinking creatively!

ADMINISTRATION

Principal

Mr. Edwin C. Mustard

We are very honored to have with us this year our distinguished principal, Mr. Edwin C. Mustard, working with us again after a sabbatical leave last year. His presence as administrative head of this school has helped to make it one of the finest in the country. We are indeed grateful for his guidance, his leadership, and his service to our school.

The Guidance counselors encourage every student to make the best possible use of his abilities while at the Junior High School. School adjustment is vital to success and the counselor assists students, parents and teachers toward this objective.

The Seventh Grade Counselor supervises the orientation program. In addition, the Counselor assists the parents of Seventh Graders by conducting evening Adult Education classes. The Counselor devotes many hours helping students who need to make a better adjustment both academically and socially to the Junior High School.

The Eighth Grade Counselor is available for help with problems which demand more time than the classroom teacher can give. The Counselor explains the Ninth Grade program to this group and helps each student with his choice of subjects for the next year.

The Ninth Grade Counselors work with students, parents and teachers for the purpose of planning the high school program. Just as soon as the unit on Occupations has been completed in the Unified classes, a student-parent-counselor conference is held. This is an opportunity for both students and parents to ask questions and to receive counseling concerning the student's achievement, his social adjustment, courses to take for grades 10, 11 and 12, colleges, or any other pertinent information.

Mr. Richard Remy, the school psychologist, is available on Wednesday. He serves as an expert in testing and in helping students and parents to better understand themselves and their school.

The Guidance counselors are persons who are trained and very willing to help any student at any time with questions concerning his program, future educational plans or his social adjustment at school.

Here they are—the select group of two delegates from each homeroom, and the officers elected by the entire student body, who comprise the Student Council. Its function and responsibility is to act as a liaison between the government and the governed.

Some of the varied activities that the Student Council has sponsored or has been engaged in include the revision of the Code of Dress, and several fund-raising drives which are conducted yearly, such as the Goodwill drive and the United Fund campaign. The Student Council also rendered assistance to the P.T.A., serving as guides for visitors and for newcomers.

To sum it all up, the Student Council is a vital necessity to the school, providing an atmosphere of unity, so essential to the smooth-functioning of any organiza-tion.

History of the Freshman Class

On September 7th a new group of bewildered Seventh Graders entered Amherst Central Junior High. After the first few weeks we became accustomed to the new routine of opening lockers and late passes. We soon elected our officers—Jayne Stettenbenz, President, Craig Steinhart, Vice-president, Susan Nelson, Secretary, and Roberta Harbison, Treasurer.

The year was filled with various activities. As Seventh Graders we enjoyed Outdoor Education at Chestnut Ridge. We also participated in many musical and sports activities. That year our Freshman basketball team had an undefeated season.

Even though our first year had been thoroughly enjoyable, most of us were glad to see the summer come.

That fall we returned to school refreshed by the long summer and anxious to see our old friends again. As Eighth Graders we took part in the school's social activities. Our first dance, The Spring Fling, was a great success with Rocky Nagel and Jayne Stettenbenz reigning as King and Queen.

Along with Easter Vacation came Honor Society inductions. We all waited anxiously to see who would be the lucky members.

The heat of June brought the dreaded final exams, and finally summer vacation.

The following year we entered the school with the responsibilities and privileges of being Freshmen. Our first dance was the Harvest Hop, sponsored by the Honor Society.

We soon discovered new faces and talents in our school. Mr. Clements, a Ninth Grade Unified teacher, entertained us all by playing the saxophone at the "Romp-in' Rendezvous," and Mr. Altamura showed his talent at string bass playing. Mr. Clements became a familiar face to the many members of Amherst's newest organization, the Ski Club, formed by Mr. Salfer, our German teacher.

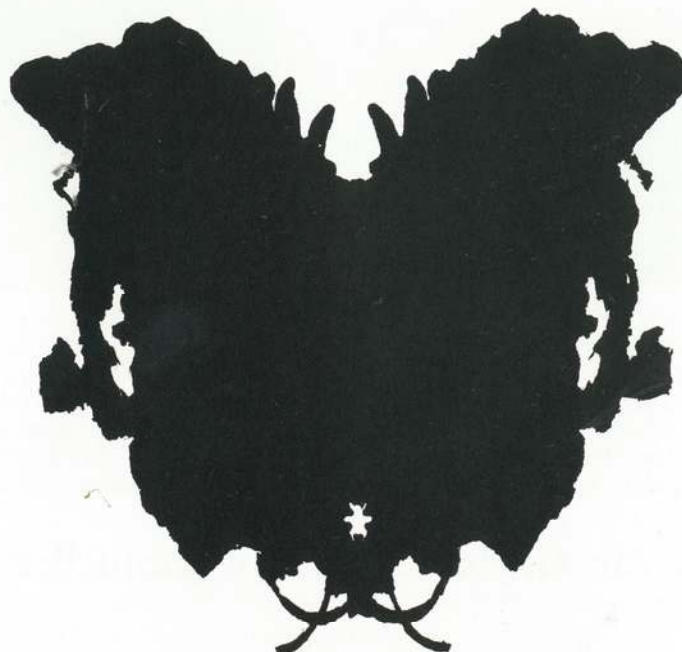

Many of us sorely missed Mr. Aikens, an Algebra teacher and the Book Store Sponsor, who became ill and was not in school for over two months.

The annual operetta, THE LOWLAND SEA and the play, UNTO US THE LIVING, put on by the Ninth Grade Mixed Choir and the Drama classes were better than ever this year.

The days flew by and summer approached. The wonderful Freshman year ended on the bitter-sweet note of Moving-Up Day, and the Freshman Farewell.
